
MAKING EMPLOYEE INTERNET MONITORING MORE AFFORDABLE

Tuesday, 3rd of February 2009 (Seattle, WA): WebSpy, a global vendor of internet monitoring, analysis and reporting software that provides a transparent view over organizations' Internet, email and network usage, has announced a radical change to optimize their pricing strategy.

WebSpy has, since commencement of operations in 1996, provided its software on a perpetual license basis. The new pricing model incorporates a flexible structure with the option of perpetual or subscription licenses. A major element of the new strategy includes providing WebSpy's Analyzer Standard internet monitoring and reporting solutions on a subscription license for $295 USD per year.

WebSpy's COO, Lagis Zavros, says, "Analyzer Standard's new reduced license pricing allows our customers to use a powerful software tool at a very reasonable price. Our research shows that Analyzer Standard is the most cost effective internet monitoring software in the market. Competing internet monitoring products are generally advertised as low cost solutions but their pricing is often based on numbers of users. Per user pricing is undeniably beneficial for home users, but for employee monitoring the numbers quickly add up".

Unlike competing software, Analyzer Standard requires one installation, can report on an unlimited amount of users (up to 2 GB of log file import) and can easily be purchased using WebSpy's new secure online payment facility.

Zavros adds, "Our end goal is to provide customers with an easily attainable and cost effective monitoring solution. Analyzer Standard requires a minimal financial outlay and enables increased productivity, reduced cost and instant return on investment, something particularly important in our prevailing sluggish economic environment".

Lagis concludes, "The impending launch of WebSpy's improved secure partner area will allow our resellers to incorporate Analyzer Standard's e-commerce procurement process into their websites and conveniently benefit from every sale with limited effort involved."
