

WEBSPY ANALYZER STANDARD

February 2003

If you're the boss – or just want to impress him – this trail software might be worth a look. It's a sophisticated Internet traffic management tool that provides complete email and Web monitoring. It runs unobtrusively and keeps you informed of who's accessing what.

These secret reports come back to your workstation in the form of word documents or HTML, and they'll alert you to everything from private downloading to excessive browsing and visits to banned sites like pornography.

WebSpy is really a corporate tool so it doesn't come cheap, but for some reason you're on the hunt for a workplace solution, worth taking a look at.
